by deleting Sections 4 through 6 of the printed bill in their entirety and by substituting instead the language as follows as Section 4 and renumbering the remaining sections accordingly:

SECTION 4. Many local telecommunication service providers offer recurring (Lifeline) and non-recurring (Link-Up) support to their qualifying low-income customers who are recipients of various assistance programs administered by the department of human services. Eligible providers who offer Lifeline and Link-Up services, the authority, and the department shall work in partnership to develop outreach efforts to those eligible customers who are eligible for these Lifeline/Link-Up services which may include brochures, posters, and other materials as shall be available. All costs associated with this partnership effort and the development and duplication of these materials and any outreach efforts involving these materials for all eligible clients shall be funded through the universal service fund established by the authority. Such materials shall be developed with the approval of the department and in such a format as to be easily understood by its clients. These outreach materials may include, but are not limited to, a description of the programs, eligibility criteria, and instructions for requesting the Lifeline/Link-Up services.
